TRADITION & TERRA COTTA

Since 1888, Ludowici has been the premier choice for colleges and universities seeking uniquely beautiful architectural terra cotta for their campuses. We have a proud history of partnering with some of the most beautiful and prestigious colleges and universities across the country. Harvard's Sever Hall still showcases its original Ludowici tile roof that was installed in 1893.

From traditional roof tile profiles for classic collegiate style, to quarry tile for promenades and flat roofs, to uniquely beautiful, modern terra cotta wall cladding solutions and solar shades, Ludowici offers a robust range of terra cotta products to fit the wide variety of architectural styles found on today's college campuses.

Ludowici products are infinitely customizable, including profile, surface and color, to match your design needs. Whether you need to match an existing historic structure or are building new, Ludowici can help you create a beautiful addition to your campus.
