

LANGUEDOCIENNE

Prominent in Mediterranean and southern French architecture, the Languedocienne mission barrel system features generously curved terra cotta tiles made of tapered mission caps and pans with a smooth surface. Manufactured in Southern France by TERREAL and sold exclusively by Ludowici in North America, this long-length tile design reduces the number of pieces per square, making it one of the most economical clay roof tile systems available. Rooted in European tradition and enhanced by modern manufacturing techniques, Languedocienne is available in ten standard and five special-order finishes, making it ideal for both restoration and new construction projects.
